Wax Seals Options

Why Copper, Brass or Stone?

Copper conducts heat rapidly and can be cooled quicker than Brass when faster production is required. Holds a fine line when engraved and has a very attractive verdigris color. Available in a High Polished or Antiqued Finish. Copper dies are a Made To Order Exclusive!

Brass which is a mixture of Copper and Zinc is a traditional choice. Cools well and holds a fine line. Heavier than Copper.

Stone seals have been used for thousands of years in old world settings. We have taken an ancient craft and given it a modern spin. Laser etched and made of genuine Marble. Stone has excellent cooling properties and creates great detail when using bolder artwork.

Wax Sticks

SealKing™ premium custom blended wax sticks are designed for ease of use in a standard size glue gun or can be melted with other traditional methods. Flexible; the wax does not crack or fall off of your delicate projects.

Wax Seal Accessories

There are many ways to melt the wax for your wax impressions. We highly recommend a standard size glue gun with an adjustable heat setting. This will hold our premium blended wax without over heating. By maintaining a steady temperature it makes high volume jobs a snap. Heats evenly and less mess!

Our SealKing™ Non-Stick pads come pre-coated with a light releasing oil. This will help insure that your wax will not stick in your wax seal, and it’s a great accessory for anyone who wants great presses every time.

A SealKing™ exclusive Brass Cooling Disk is made to provide strong even cooling in between presses with your SealKing™ wax seal. Having a cooling disk is essential in insuring even distribution of your wax for a truly beautiful impression. Use of cold beverage can helps retain temperature.
This example shows how we lay out our lines in our circular format. Line 5 can be text or stock icon, or your custom image.
